Connors and Yanks Win, and Champ Fan Moves to Luxury

Port Arthur's Champ Fan's Hunch Proves Correct and He Moves to '302A' in New York's 400

—CONNORS AND YANKS BY MAURICE T. CONNORS (Port Arthur's Champion Fan at the World Series.)

Special to The News.
WALLBORE ASTORIA HOTEL, NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The first time he was on the pumpkin and the fold in the shirt, but the Yanks came out from under and my master's out of hook.

That's how I stand tonight.

About the time I figured I'd have to walk home or take a Gulf refinery boat back, Lady Luck smiled one of her most scintillating smiles, the Yanks walked out of my door.

He Must Have Won.

This hotel is about half as big as Jefferson county. You could anchor the Swiftstar in the swimming pool and play a game of golf in the basement. I lost my way two times hunting my room tonight and had to walk three miles to find it.

I am going to suggest to the management that they start a bus line in the hall with a traffic cop at all intersections and name the corridors like avenues. My room number is 302A and I judge by that they have room 302 for every letter in the alphabet. They must have mixed me up because my name starts with "C" not "A." I have fixed up a map of this floor and have called the corner my room is on Dallas and Foster so I won't lose my way.

I started down for supper at 6 o'clock and got to the ground floor in time to meet the theater crowd coming in after the show. Then I started for my room and met a fellow in the hall.

"Are you a shift man?" I asked.

"What company do you work for?" "The Gulf," the man replied. "And I'd be jiggered if he didn't. I thought they didn't allow shift men to room here because they wake everybody up." I said.

"Well, I don't know about that," he said. "My name is Butler." We shook and then he told me that he worked in the marine department, which accounted for his being up half the night.

We talked some.

"I'm a landlubber but this series has got me to sea," said Butler. "I bet on the Giants."

"No wonder you don't know where you're at," I told him. "I'm sticking with the Yanks and they're sticking with me."

(Gang, my hunch on Scott and the 13th, which I told you about Saturday, was correct. The only thing Scott didn't do was to let the Yanks get 15 scores. If Milder Higgins will listen to me Sunday the Yanks will be one game in the lead.

And if they get in the lead I'll move over to the Ritz Carlton for the rest of the series, and if this don't show the fans I'm right I've still got a chance at Hotel Navvies kind on my way home.

ECHO FROM THE CIVIL WAR

These assembled talismen represent the first mixed jury ever drawn in the United States. They were impaneled in October, 1907, to try Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, on an indictment charging treason. The trial was never held because of the writ of amnesty issued by President Johnson, which pardoned all participants in the Rebellion. This rare print, one of the six permitted to be taken, was found between the leaves of an old book recently sold at auction in Richmond, Va.

TROOP 16.
Troop 16 had their first meeting in three months at the church, Friday night at 8 p. m. As Mr. Johnston has put in his resignation Major Fitzgerald called the meeting to order. Then we had roll call, which showed that there were 13 present. Then we brought up the old business. Later some of the boys wanted to know how much they owed on dues, so every boy was told how much he owed. Then Major Fitzgerald nominated some Scoutmasters and we elected Mr. Clements, a member of our church, and an ex-soldier. Major Fitzgerald told us a few things and then we broke up to play games. First, we had a kelly drill and then we played steel the flag. After a half-hour Major Fitzgerald dismissed the meeting. Everybody came and bring their dues and a new member.

TROOP 17.
Our senior patrol leader, Eddie Bellot, opened the meeting last Wednesday with the Scout oath and the pledge of allegiance. After the oath and pledge the roll was called. There were 40 cents collected in dues. The following tests were passed on second class: Arthur Aycock, signaling and knife and hatchet; Olan Morrison, knife and hatchet; Domingue Matise, knife and hatchet.

After the second-class tests we had some signaling exercises to give some practice to those who did not yet pass signaling.

The tests passed on first class were: Richard Baxter, map; Leroy Underhill, map; Willie Bollinger, map, trip and handcraft.

The election of the captain of our football team took place. The candidates nominated were Domingue Matise, Eddie Bellot and Ray Richard. Domingue Matise was elected captain. He knows his business, and we think he will make just the type of captain we need in order to have a good team.

Our senior patrol leader closed the meeting at about 8:30.

After the meeting we had a race. The race was run in the following manner: Each boy chose a partner to hold a hat for him to hold the raisins. The other went to a table which was covered with raisins and got a spoonful and brought them to his partner and dumped them in the hat. There was a riddle and a puzzle in which the runners bumped into each other which made them spill their raisins. When the race was over there was a prize for the boy who had the most raisins in the hat. Andy Bellot and his partner worked so fast that they had more raisins than any one else. They were, of course, the winners. The partners divided up and we disbanded at about 9:15 and went home.

JAMES BOLLINGER, Scribe.

TROOP 15.
We had our regular meeting Tuesday night. The fellows seemed to be very busy or forgot about our meeting. Anyway that did not keep us from having our election. Officers elected are as follows: Troop Falcourt, senior patrol leader, and Nolan Landry, scribe. Theo, Jurachek, patrol leader of Patrol 1; Oswald Landry, assistant; Herman Carrell, patrol leader of Patrol 2; Rodney Potholeaux, assistant; Ray Gentil, patrol leader of Patrol 3; Ray Gentil, assistant; Ray Billeaud, patrol leader of Patrol 4, and Adam Lange, assistant.

Oswald Landry, Theo, Jurachek, Ray Gentil, Vernon Herard and Ray Billeaud passed first-class inspection.

Say, Scouts, we want you all to get down to Scout work. Whatever you do, have something to do next meeting night.

We collected $2.10 dues Tuesday night.

Our visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Daupit. To the parents of the Scouts we extend an invitation to come to our meetings.

For the Scout "Round-Up" in February last, we increased our troop over 25 per cent. For our reward we received a streamer from our late President Harding. We got it at the Court of Honor about three weeks ago. Last week our Scoutmaster had it framed. We will have it in the Knights of Columbus home.

We had our first football practice Sunday and even if the team is a little light, we expect to make our opponents sit up and take notice. Mr. Billeaud gave us a set of signals and he spent the morning going through a few plays. Don't forget to be at the

One Way to Reduce Your Light Bills

While the increase that your electric bill may show this month is due principally to the lengthened period of darkness at this season, much light that could be saved is wasted unintentionally.

Dust and Dirt on Lamps, Shades and Reflectors, Absorbs 40% of the Light You Pay For!

Housewives! Now at Fall Cleaning time—clean and polish with a dry cloth every electric lamp ("bulb") in the home. Wash glass shades in soap and water. Clean silk shades with the suction attachment on your vacuum cleaner, then brighten the colors with gasoline. Replace all burned out lamps with new lamps and put your lighting equipment in good condition all around.

Do this—and you'll stop waste of light through dust and dirt, and be able to save on the amount of electricity consumed.

Scientist Who Forecast Raising of Continent Predicts New Volcano in Rockies; Says Garden of Eden Was Virginia In Gulf Says Next Earthquake Will Be in Cuba

MOTHER EARTH SHOWS DISTRESS

Dismal Picture Painted by Physician-Scientist

BY BOB DORMAN
News-SEA Service Staff Writer.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—A new volcano in the Rockies!

A chain of mountains that will grow the earth across the equator!

These are the latest predictions of Dr. Milton A. Nobles, geologist and scientist, whose forecast of a coming cataclysm, which would destroy all of Europe, Iceland, North Africa, South America, Northern Canada, Asia Minor, South and East Asia, Japan, the Philippines and East Indies, was printed recently in the Port Arthur News.

Since the publication of that story, there have been 18 earthquakes in the areas indicated!

And now Dr. Nobles' further predictions are being studied with interest. For this old Philadelphia physician is establishing himself as the foremost forecaster of earth changes. He hasn't given up his work as a physician. He still keeps on practicing without charge. But in all his off moments, he sits at his desk, puffs away at a pipe, and studies maps, weather reports, and charts of wind movements.

The work seems to keep him young. For although he must be well over 70, he has the strength and endurance of a man in the prime of life. He doesn't tell his exact age. He doesn't like to talk about it.

But he will tell about his predictions.

"The earth," says Dr. Nobles, "has already passed through two great cataclysms. The history of the world has been lost in the mist of time."

"But the record of the second has been handed down to posterity by the few survivors of the 'Deluge'."

"Mountain ranges, you know, are built up at the equator, due to conflicting wave action and coral building. And cataclysms are due to the breaking up of volcanic areas through the volcanic fire eating away the superimposed rock, until fissuring takes place, and enormously destructive explosions follow."

"The so-called 'Deluge' was just such a cataclysm. So vast was the explosion, that the land which formed the first equatorial chain of mountains were hurled far and wide. The remaining lands were swept by gigantic tidal waves."

"The second equatorial chain of mountains is that portion of the world which is about to be destroyed, within ten years, perhaps."

"The third equatorial chain of mountains formed the equator at the time of the 'Deluge' and the west coast of the Western Hemisphere, and up through Australia, China and Siberia."

"Not far from that equator, located I think, somewhere in what is now Virginia, was the Garden of Eden. There, and not in Asia, as is commonly believed, was the home of the human race, the place where Adam and Eve lived."

"The level of the world forming the third equator is the youngest chain of mountains in the world. It must eventually pass through the same cataclysm as the others."

But this won't happen for several thousands of years, Dr. Nobles assures us.

"They will, however, be the constant scene of volcanic and earthquake activities, growing more and more violent."

Coming nearer home, Dr. Nobles has this to say about the changes in our mountains:

"The coming of the volcano in the Rockies is shown by the terrific wind and rainstorms which have swept the western states."

"The heating of the atmosphere in its neighborhood, causes the hot air to rise. Air rushes in from both north and south, mingling with the water-charged north wind, with the water-charged warm air of the Gulf regions."

"This causes precipitation, and as the Rockies block the passage of the wind to the west, they sweep eastward. I look for heavy rains and windstorms in the country tributary to the Mississippi."

"And eventually Mt. Lassen, that volcano in the California coast range which has shown some signs of life in the past few years, will have a companion somewhere in the Rockies. But this new volcano will not be extremely active for some time. It will not be dangerous for hundreds of years."

Where will the next earth disturbance be?

"In the West Indies," predicts Dr. Nobles. "The islands belong to the third equatorial chain. They should show signs of earthquakes or volcanic action well within 30 days."

How does he come out of space?

"We are all children of nature, at one with her if we will. Just as you know when your finger is cut, so do I know when anything is wrong with earth."

POSSIBILITIES of making Sabine the center of the oyster raising industry and Port Arthur the biggest port in the south are seen in the prediction of Dr. Nobles, noted scientist who comes to Port Arthur following his forecast three weeks ago of a catastrophe in 1933.

According to the predictions of the scientist a volcanic eruption, or rather a series of them, will reconstruct the earth in such a manner that a belt of mountains will be thrown out of the oceans along the equatorial line. At the same time the earth in undergoing this change a shift will be made in the Sabine district which will move the Gulf outward from its present shores and leave Port Arthur on the shore of an inland sea.

PREDICTING NEW EARTH CHANGES

Gulf Ports Claimed Free From Smuggling of Human Beings

Resting in smug complacency, the Gulf coast west of Mobile has been free from the smuggling of human beings, such as the Florida coast is bothered with.

Questioned relative to smuggling of aliens into the country via the Gulf coast, E. R. Pulverly, immigration officer of this district, said he had no knowledge of any smuggling of aliens on any place on the Gulf coast.

It is understood that the alien smuggling game, which along part of the Atlantic coast has taken precedence over the smuggling of liquor, is undertaken on a wholesale scale throughout the Florida peninsula, because of the proximity to Cuba, the alleged jumping off place for the alien traffic into this country.

Dangerous Game.

The distance from the isles off the coast of the United States to any of the Gulf ports includes any possibility of alien smuggling into the ports of this section.

Relative to the traffic in aliens being pursued along the coast of Florida, it is understood that hundreds of Chinese have been smuggled into this country since the frontiersmen cut heavily into the bootleggers' markets with his made at home products.

From reliable sources it is learned that organized gangs have smuggled aliens into this country as so much head. These, not having the money to pay for their transportation and the sky-high prices asked by the smugglers, contract to work for the man advancing the necessary amount of money to finance the trip.

Gulf Ports Free.

For example a Chinaman here has a cousin in China whom he wants to get into this country. It is understood that a price of $1,000 a head is put on each Chinaman brought into this country by smugglers from Cuba ports. A fee of $200 is said to be collected before the alien is set down in Cuba, with an additional charge of $1,000 being asked for delivery to American shores.

From the same source, it is understood that the alien smuggled into this country contracts to work for the man who pays the charges for a certain period of years for nothing, selling himself into virtual slavery.

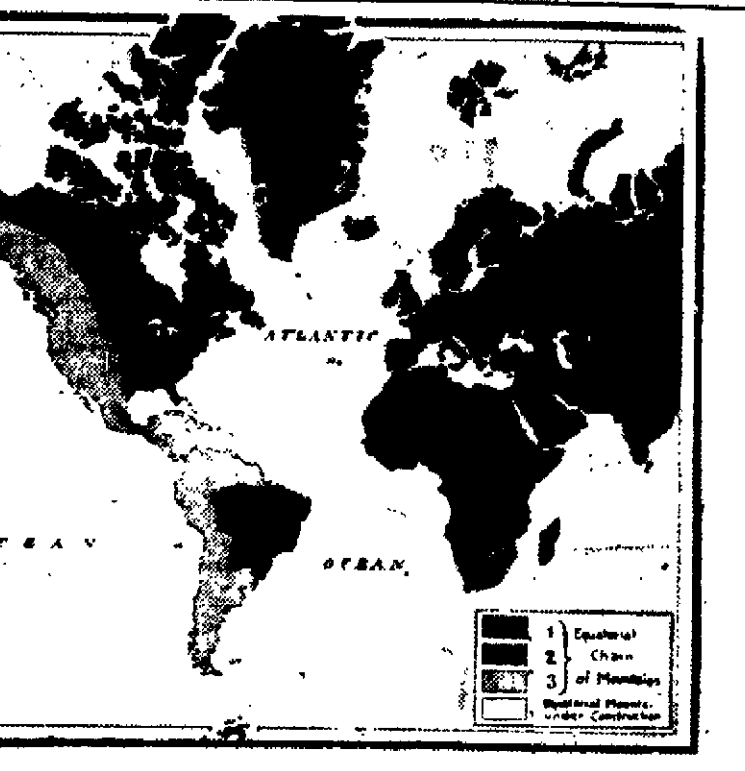

It has not been noted, however, along this northern portion of the Gulf coast and it is believed that the portion west of Mobile is comparatively free from such traffic.

ECONOMY SILENCES GUNS
PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 13.—Local military and naval stations have stopped firing guns as time signals for the sake of economy.

We have no assurance that the other parts of the world will remain in their present position and it might be necessary to freight exel grease across the deserts by caravan for the Turks or ship it to Butte, Montana, by an ocean going ship.

Sabine Pass, should the scientific prognosticator "know his grapes," will hold an advantageous position, for it will be miles out in the inland sea. Beaumont and Orange, unless Doe has shipped a cog in his calculations, will have to put their exports on pack mules and cart it across to Port Arthur.

In view of this, perhaps some enterprising capitalist of this city might inveigle Beaumont to dispose of their dock and bring it to Port Arthur.

Map showing Dr. Milton A. Nobles' views of earth's changes. Black indicates first equatorial mountain chain, scattered over globe by volcanic explosion known as the "Deluge." Dark shaded areas—second equatorial mountain chain which he predicts will be destroyed in ten years. Light shaded areas—third equatorial mountain chain, whose doom is 2000 years off. White indicates new mountain chain forming in present equatorial belt.

Port Arthur Vessel in Port of Missing Ships

For the second time within the erator on the tanker as her last position. Not a lifeboat, not a piece of wreckage, nor any other mark remains on the waves to indicate the place where she went down.

An old whalboat ship, one of the first four ever built, and used in 1891 as a passenger ship on the Great Lakes for carrying people to the Chicago world's fair, the City of Everett probably broke in two and sank like a rock, the suction and heavy sea drawing the small boat with their occupants down after her. Port Arthur shipping men said Saturday. They expressed the belief that none of the crew had time to get away from the sinking tanker.

"These old ships just collapse and end it all in less time than it takes to tell of it," one Port Arthur mariner said. "As though overburdened with the cares and weight of years of service and endless plunging and fighting through the seas, when the end comes these old ships meet it more than half way, seeming to welcome the opportunity to go down beneath the waves they've fought so long."

"With their fighting spirit gone, the old hulls burst open in a hundred places, and the salty water that for sides mercilessly knocking, pounding, careening, attempting, to ram entrance, rushes in with a roar, overwhelming and over powering the thing that has withstood it and cast it aside."

Ending her days of service as a passenger carrier on the lakes, the City of Everett was converted into an oil tanker. She was one of the ships that made Port Arthur in the

18 K. WEDDING RING--15 CENTS

No Joke, Either, Say Nation
Counter Men

An 18-karat gold wedding ring for 15 cents may be the pride and joy of more than one Port Arthur bride, managers of 5 and 10 cent stores in the city declare.

"No fooling, I mean that more than one man has picked out a solid gold wedding ring from our display racks and paid just 15 cents for it," one of the store managers said.

Here's How It Happens.

"Don't think it's a trick we have to get prospective grooms in our store to buy their wedding rings, nor yet that it is a 'salting' of our stocks of assorted matrimonial bands. But occasionally it happens, not only in Port Arthur, but elsewhere, that these solid gold rings stray in among the cheaper varieties," this manager maintained.

"Here's how it comes about, Mrs. So and So comes in to make a purchase. She pulls off the glove of her left hand, and her pinky off comes the cherished wedding ring. She is standing by the jewelry counter. A clerk sees the gold band lying on the floor, thinks a brushing sleeve has caught it and swept it out of the racks where gleam dozens of bands of equal brilliance and shine. Mrs. So and So's wedding ring of purest gold serene is placed in among them.

No Wonder It Doesn't Turn.

Purchasing today a Port Arthur bride is wearing such a ring, and so getting it for 15 cents, and nursing a secret wonder that it hasn't turned. Superstition also enters into the failure of either bride or groom to discover the usual marks of identification engraved on the inside of the band, for once a wedding ring is placed on the finger of the bride, far be it from either her or her husband to remove it," said the store man.

Chicago Setting New Rapid Divorce Record

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Chicago sets the divorce court speed record for the United States by granting a divorce to separate married couples every 12 1/2 minutes.

To "unwed" couples in this record time requires the work of several judges. At times the rate of granting divorces has been speeded up until each 8 3/4 minutes a couple stepped before the judge together and left in different directions.

Two years ago a London judge set a record by granting thirty divorces in little less than an hour. For speed, the London court made a new record, but for sustained rapid handling of cases Chicago judges, granting 195 divorces in a month, are thought to have established the record.

The number of divorces per 100,000 population has been rapidly increasing here. From 125 in 1900 the number has jumped to 20 in 1922 and is still increasing, according to the statistics available for this year.

In Cook County there has been a divorce for every six marriages during the past year. The proportion of divorces to marriages is increasing rapidly and will be one divorce to every five marriages in a short time, it is thought.

Gov. McCray's Bank Closed by Directors

KENTLAND, Ind., Oct. 13.—The doors of the Discount and Deposit Bank, Kentland, of which Governor Warren T. McCray was formerly president, were closed today.

Closing of the bank, one of McCray's chief creditors, was ordered by the board of directors, led by William Fairbrock, new president.

England Worries As Problem of Idle Grows, Says Reed

Need of a court of domestic relations has been emphasized several times in the past by incidents which have happened in Port Arthur by officers who have been called in as mediators in several family quarrels. Recently the crossing case of the department was answered.

Police have gone into homes and assisted a prostrate husband who was being beaten by his wife who held a shoe in either hand.

The climax to matrimonial tossings came when Captain Leslie Fox of the local department was called to a home where two women were engaged in the gentle sport of pulling each other's hair.

Investigation of the case showed that Woman No. 1 was in love with the husband of Woman No. 2 and went to her house in an effort to have Woman No. 2 divorce the husband. An injustice was affected through the efforts of the police captain and serenely again released.

It is claimed that a court of domestic relations established in Port Arthur would go far to eliminate many of the wrecks of matrimonial ships which are sent on the rocks every week.

Regarding this phrase of the matter Judge Deems, of the corporation court bench stated Saturday:

"I feel assured that many cases of aggravated assault which are tried before me each week, could be straightened out by a court of this type. Many complaints are filed against husbands and in some instances against wives, where a counselor of the domestic relations court might have been of service."

Jap Quake Destroyed Entire Bible Stock

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Yokohama, Japan, destroyed by the recent earthquake, sent out annually for missionary circulation more copies of the Bible than any other city of the world. From the Yokohama Printing Company at Yokohama copies of the Scriptures went out not only to the Japanese empire, but to China, the Philippines, India, and all other parts of the Far East. The quake destroying the Yokohama plant and killed the entire operating force of from 700 to 1,000 persons. The entire stock of Bibles in depots in Yokohama and Tokyo was destroyed.

The American Bible Society, with headquarters in New York, has sole responsibility for this part of Japan. To meet the immediate emergency the society has arranged to produce at once on presses running night and day half a million copies of the Gospel of Luke in Japanese. It has called to its agencies on the Pacific coast, in China and in the Philippines to forward at once all available copies of Japanese Scriptures.

"One of the most hopeless situations in Europe is that of Austria. Broken up into a small state with a total of the population of 2,000,000 of her German people in Austria, the country has absolutely nothing from which to draw her food and it seems she is unable to reach this situation."

A NEW OCCUPATION

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—Charwomen are no longer to be had in Berlin. The scarcity of birth has given them a new occupation. Instead of sweeping floors, they sell their services at so much per hour to wait in the butter queues. Since it takes anywhere from three to six hours to get a half pound of butter, the charwomen make a good day's wages, if they have two households for which to work.

Department Club Will Hold First Meeting of Season Monday Afternoon

This week will see the opening of the last of the women's literary clubs of Port Arthur, save the Symphony Club, which has its first meeting scheduled for Monday, October 22.

The Women's Self Improvement Club opened the season on October 2, and has mapped out a helpful program on folklore for the year.

The Reading Club began its work early and is already interested in a program of Changing National Ideals. The Reading Club is one of the oldest branches of the Department Club, and enters on its twelfth year this year. During this period the Reading Club has been active along cultural and civic lines.

The Young Women's Culture Club began its meetings last week, with an interesting study of early letter writers. The club's study for the coming year is "The Literature of Letters."

The first meeting of the Civic Club was also held last week. This club was the outgrowth of a park committee, and from the first has devoted itself to civic improvement of Port Arthur.

The Department Club, a combination of all the women's literary clubs of the city, will meet Monday afternoon and begin another year of interesting and altogether delightful work.

It was through the efforts of the Department Club that the first definite steps were taken toward a permanent club home. This long cherished dream seems near realization as the Ways and Means Committee, which has charge of the club's house plans, is promising results and going about making good their promises.

The Department Club is comprised of two hundred and eighteen members, all of whom are enthusiastic supporters of the club home and all of whom are working tirelessly to make the club home a reality instead of a dream.

The Ways and Means Committee, of which Mrs. Roy Wignall is chairman, is scheduled to report on the work of the clubhouse during the summer months. Another important item to be taken up at Monday's session is the election of a secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. A. M. Armstrong, who moved to Waco recently.

Monday's session of the Department Club will be held at the Red Cross hut, Dallas and Fifth street, at 3 o'clock. The Reading Club will have charge of the program on this occasion.

Among the card clubs, which are renewing activities for the fall months, is the Wednesday Whist Club, which held a most enjoyable session last Wednesday afternoon at the lovely home of Mrs. M. F. Bledsoe on North Lake Shore drive.

The club has a membership of four tables of players, but several of the members have not returned from their summer vacations, causing only three tables to enjoy the opening session of the club.

Mrs. Bledsoe's selection of a charming motif of pink to feature the lovely hospitality was displayed in the exquisite blossoms which were clustered in graceful arrangements throughout the home.

A dainty one o'clock luncheon was served in the dining room, where covers were laid for fourteen guests. The fragrant pink blossoms gave floral charm to the table, and glowing pink tapers in crystal candle holders added their charms to the table appointments.

For after luncheon diversion, the guests enjoyed whist in the green room, where whist tables were outfitted in covers and accessories featuring the pink theme. For high score in the games, Mrs. G. L. Pritchard received a handsome trophy and Mrs. S. O. Latimer received the second prize.

The personnel of the lovely afternoon party included Mrs. Moore of Philadelphia, Mrs. G. N. Bliss, Mrs.

hair in her long French chair, chairman of the entertainment committee.

AN ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM OF music has been arranged by Miss Helen Crum, chair director, for the service at the First M. F. church, South, today. Mrs. I. A. Durke is pianist.

At the morning service the program will be as follows:

Prélude: (Overture from Post and Present) (Von Suppe)—Mrs. Durke.
Voluntary: 90 Day of Rest and Gladness—Choir.
Anthem: "Make a Joyful Noise Unto Jehovah"—Choir.

Solo: "Ave Maria" (Gounod)—Tom Witham.

Offertory: "Cannone Americano" by Norin.

The evening musical numbers will be:

Prélude: "Adoration" (Browski).
Anthem: "Keeping Watch Above His Own"—Choir.
Offertory: "Serenade" (Drill).

THE RAINBOW ORDER FOR Girls will meet Saturday evening, October 20, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Macomber hall, according to an announcement made yesterday by Miss Lora Wells, secretary. A class will be initiated on this occasion and all members of the Rainbow Order are urged to attend the session.

Among the lovely hospitality, complimenting Mrs. Edward Lynch of San Antonio during her stay here was the attractive bridge, which had as hostess Mrs. Otto Engstrom at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. B. Sault, 2005 Lake Shore drive.

In featuring a motif of lavender and yellow, Mrs. Engstrom favored lovely lilacs and goldenrod, which were clustered in graceful arrangements in tulip-topped baskets at vantage points about the rooms.

Appointments and accessories for the bridge tables also featured the lovely lavender and yellow theme, and during the games the hostess offered dainty candies of the chosen hues.

As the prize for high score in the games Mrs. Miller Barrier was awarded a handsome prize, and Mrs. Tillman Temple out consolation. Mrs. Lynch presented with a lovely guest favor. A tempting salad, favoring the lavender and yellow scheme, was served at the close of the games.

Those enjoying the pleasing hospitality were Mrs. Edward Lynch, Miss Emma Briggs, Miss Sadie Thompson, Mrs. Kyle Elam, Mrs. Roland Lawrence, Mrs. R. T. McMullen, Miss Mildred Tate, Miss Beulah Floy Bledsoe, Miss Evelyn Baker, Mrs. L. B. Hightower, Miss Anne Addicks, Mrs. Russell Dunn, Mrs. Tillman Temple, Mrs. Miller Barrier, Mrs. Billy Latham, Mrs. Walter Spencer, Mrs. J. B. Saint, and Mrs. Otto Engstrom.

MRS. ROY MOSSMAN WILL sponsor an interesting program on "Our Heritage" at the Reading club meeting Friday afternoon at the Red Cross hut, Dallas and Fifth street.

The program for the afternoon follows:

"From the Old World to the New"

(a consideration of European movements and ideas which led and conditioned the settlements of America)—Miss Anna Walker.

The Great Migratory Movement to the West and Their Influence on American Character—Mrs. A. S. Bailey.

The Democratic Idealism of Our Fathers as Reflected in American Literature—Miss Mary Donaldson.

General discussion: "Our New Nationalism—Is It a Continuation of Historic Tradition?"—Conducted by Mrs. Mossman.

All Members of the Reading club are invited and urged to attend Friday's session of the club.

MRS. C. H. Gunthorpe, Jr., will entertain the Progressive club of the W. B. A. of the Macomber on Friday afternoon at her home, 3126 Frendy street, at 2:30 o'clock.

The meeting was scheduled to be held at Mrs. F. A. Dryer's home, but was changed at last Wednesday's session of the Macomber. All members of the W. B. A. of the Macomber are invited to attend the club meeting.

CIRCLE ONE OF THE WOMAN'S auxiliary of the Central Baptist church will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of making plans for the entertainment of the Federated Miscellaneous society on Thursday. It is hoped that all members of Circle One will attend this important meeting.

THE AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY will be entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. E. H. McGuire and Mrs. W. S. Carter.

at her home, 2001 Seventh street.

A pleasant afternoon of entertainment has been arranged for Tuesday and all members of the American Legion auxiliary are invited to attend.

MRS. LOUIS ANDREWS AND Mrs. Joe Andrews were joint hostesses at a charming affair at the former's home in Gulf Refinery park Friday afternoon when they entertained with a pleasing miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Fred George, who moves into her new home in the Model Addition soon.

U. S. TRADE BALANCE REACHES $126,000,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—A favorable trade balance of $126,000,000 for the United States in September was shown in a statement today by the department of commerce.

Imports of gold totaling $27,802,961, exceeded exports by $20,780,251, while exports of silver, $4,511,571, were $408,511 in excess of imports.

"Thelma" Is Billed at Garden Airdome

Patrons of the Garden Airdome will have the opportunity Sunday night to enjoy a drama of a character and theme seldom attempted by stock company talent and more rarely staged outside the larger playhouses because of the elaborate and difficult scenic effects which are so important a part of the performance.

"Thelma," the dramatized story of Marie Corelli's famous novel, is the play chosen for the first of the week run at the Airdome.

The story deals with the life of the last of the line of Vikings and his beautiful daughter, Thelma. It carries through from the hand of the midnight sun to the fashionable districts of London and back again to the fjords and cliffs of Sweden and the little heroine's childhood home, where, after a long period of sorrow and suffering, lasting happiness finally comes back to her and her lover-husband.

But perhaps as much as the unusual action and lines of the drama are the wonderfully gripping scenic effects demanded—and because the stage furnishings at the Airdome cost nearly as much as the entire structure itself, "Thelma" will be staged in a manner that will delight the audience, the management says. The midnight sun, the aurora borealis and the great waterfall scene, on the brink of which one of the most thrilling incidents of the drama is enacted, all will be pictured by the scenic artist and electricians on the Airdome stage.

Finland Is After U. S. Booze Drinking Crown.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—"Finland is the only other country in the world where there is as much drunkenness as there is in the United States," said Dr. Frederick A. Weis, Copenhagen, speaking here.

Less drunkenness prevails in countries under state monopoly than in countries where prohibition is the law, he said.

"There are no fishing snacks that engage in fishing in this country moves—they all 'run booze,' as you call it. If secret drinking keeps on in this country, all respect for law and order will be lost."

"There is more whiskey smuggling into Norway, where heavy alcoholic drinks are barred, than any other of her sister nations. In Denmark we have the safe system, where you drink with your meals rather than drink 'booths.' Personally, I believe in the Danish plan of running up liquor prices with heavy taxation."

Finland Is After U. S. Booze Drinking Crown.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Finland is the only other country in the world where there is as much drunkenness as there is in the United States, said Dr. Frederick A. Weis, Copenhagen, speaking here.

Less drunkenness prevails in countries under state monopoly than in countries where prohibition is the law, he said.

"There are no fishing snacks that engage in fishing in this country now—they all 'run booze' as you call it. If secret drinking keeps on in this country, all respect for law and order will be lost."

DETATOR SEEN AS SOLE RELIEF

Lloyd George Forecasts Dire Consequences in Germany

WITH LLOYD GEORGE, WIN-
NIPPO, Oct. 13.—Successful dictatorship anarchy, with perhaps the United States and other nations being called on for food relief, confronts Germany, Lloyd George predicted today as dispatches came telling of bread riots in German cities.

Unless dictators are decided on and in successful in providing food for the people, by overcoming reported hoarding of the crops by German peasants and the difficulties of transportation nothing remains for Germany but revolution, he said.

"And it will not be merely one revolution, it will be revolution and counter-revolution, 'ritual anarchy,' he predicted. Such a situation with its inevitable reaction on other countries, might have far reaching consequences on the world situation, he said. France for instance, would get no reparations and with a general election coming on there next May, French politicians would be likely to face unpleasant personal consequences.

May Effort Britain.
Britain, Lloyd George said, probably would not be greatly affected were the reparation an orderly one, which led to immediate stabilization in Germany. But, if as feared, a state of chaos and anarchy prevailed Britain, too, would feel its full effects.

France might save the situation
even now, he feels, by an amendment of policy which would enable dictatorship in Germany to function only as a temporary measure, to be replaced in due time by the restored democracy.

But if France maintains its present attitude the dire consequence will continue to loom ahead.

Lloyd George does not expect France to extend military occupation of German territory in any event.
Arriving in Winnipeg this afternoon, Lloyd George was taken to the city hall for the usual welcoming ceremonies. At 7:30 tonight he will address a large public meeting.

Plays in Water.
He made but one speech today on the way here, at Keweenaw, Minn. Some one had advised him wrong and he spoke to the crowd about his pleasure in greeting them "at the first city in the great providence of Manitoba."

There, on the edge of Lake of the Woods, Lloyd George and his daughter, Megan, joined other members of the party in trying to hit with stones,
a half submerged log in the water.
Then they posed for photographers with the lake and the flaming woods in the background.

"Marvelous, marvelous country," said Lloyd George.

Megan said nothing, but threw another rock at the log, and her father had to call her away from that engrossing pastime to have her picture taken.

HINKLER SETS GLIDER RECORD AT 250 MILES

LYMPE, England, Oct. 13.—H.
Hinkler made the longest unbroken flight at the motor glider trials here, covering 250 miles and bringing his total in the reliability test to 812 miles.

It is calculated that his machine,
because of its low fuel consumption, could fly from London to Rome with less than $7 worth of fuel.

Captain MacMillan broke the speed record for machines of the type, flying 25 miles at the rate of 70.1 miles an hour. The previous best speed was 66.5.

ANNUAL CUERO TURKEY TROT TO BE A BIG ONE

CTERO, Texas, Oct. 13.—The turkey is not disappearing.
Replying to statements of poultrymen in recent convention at Chicago that the Thanksgiving birds were fast becoming extinct, J. C. Hoverton declared the biggest crop of turkeys in years will be shipped from Cuero this fall.

Cuero is the scene of the nationally known annual "Turkey Trot," when thousands of birds are driven through the streets of the town to the slaughter houses. More turkeys are shipped from Cuero than any place in the United States.

SENATOR SHEPPARD FOR COLONIZATION

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 13.—Corporate monopolies are squeezing out individualism, but Bolshevism nor any other form of philosophy will be allowed to smother individual expression in this country, said Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas at a town meeting here today. The senator advocated a movement for inducing greater colonization of the reclaimed areas of the Southwest from the congested centers of the East, thereby helping solve the economic problem of the northern states.

INSANITY MAY BE GRAY'S PLEA

Alleged Murderer Tries to Take Life Before Trial

WINFIELD, Texas, Oct. 13.—Special session of Tarrant county court was opened today at Mount Pleasant to try the case of (Tom) Gray, charged with murder of Otis Ballard. Three hundred men were summoned for special venire and selection of a jury began.

Judge Williamson appointed John
Myers, Mount Pleasant, and Attorney Florence of Dallas to defend Gray in the case.

Gray made an effort before being brought into court to end his life by butting his forehead against a brick wall in his cell, according to officers.

A deep gash was cut.

He refused to talk when questioned by Judge Williamson.

It is claimed that Gray's attorneys will plead insanity during the trial.

District Attorney Chas. Hutchings and County Attorney Sam Williams are leading counsel in prosecuting the case.

WEBB ASKS TEST OF NEW DRY ACT

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 13.—Attorney General W. A. Keeling today was requested by the Rev. Atticus Webb, superintendent of the State Anti-Saloon League, to join with attorneys general of other states in prosecuting a test case of the supplemental federal prohibition act passed by the last congress. This act is designed to strengthen provisions of the original Volstead statute. Its constitutionality is being attacked in federal courts.

4,800 BALES GINNED IN PALMER SECTION

PALMER, Texas, Oct. 13.—The Palmer gins had ginned up until October 8, 4,800 bales of cotton, which is about a fourth more than the amount ginned to the same date last year. Farmers and merchants are optimistic over the crop conditions.

Many people's idea of raising kids

TELLS PLOTTING TO KILL WOMAN

Aged Astronaut Confesses
Planning Killing

MARSHFIELD, Ohio, Oct. 13.—
Arthur Covell, local astronomer, confessed plotting of diabolical crimes under direction of the ears, lowered his case from the heavens here today and pleaded guilty to a charge of murder.

Wrangling into the court room of Circuit Judge Kendall on a pair of crutches, Covell sprawled before the bar, heard the complaint filed against him by the grand jury and admitted that he had planned the slaying on September 3, of Mrs. Ebba Covell, his sister-in-law.

Along with his plea of guilty, the crippled man asked that Alton Corvelli, 16, his nephew, who had previously confessed to the actual murder, be freed of the charge. The youth acted under his hypnotic orders, the astronaut declared, and should not be responsible for the crime.

Judge Kendall did not sentence the elder Covell today. Neither did he act in the case of the youth. Both will appear in court again Monday.

OFFER EL VISTA SCHOOL OR BUS

have always given all callers respectful hearings, and as satisfactory arrangements have been made for your case as was possible under the existing conditions.

"One of the greatest difficulties experienced by boards in dealing with your people has been to find out exactly what was desired. The present board would have been very glad to have received you this year and worked with you with a view to improving the situation," the secretary wrote.

"Relative to your claim on the valuations of the district, the board feels that your claim is extravagant in that it undoubtedly reaches beyond your control. Nearly all of the children of employees of the two large refineries live within or near the city of Port Arthur and attend the city schools.
The few living within the Gulf refinery have access to the schools through adequate street car service. Those living close around the Texas Company are not in excessive walking distance from the Franklin school," the letter points out.

A review of the records for the past four years dealing with the negotiations between the El Vista people and the school board is then quoted by Secretary Abbey in the letter. Back in 1919, he set forth initial steps were launched by the school board with the Chamber of Commerce and the county commissioner for improving the El Vista road.

In the same meeting, Abbey stated, provision was made that in case a satisfactory bid was not promptly received for the transportation of the El Vista school children into Port Arthur, the school board made representations in the interest of the El Vista road, which finally was included in the county's bonding program,
it stated.

When the board employed C. D.
Jones in August of 1922 to drive
the bus from El Vista into Port Arthur, it was because the El Vista road still was in bad condition with prospects that the finishing of the new road could not be accomplished for some time, but the board felt that this would be the last year that free transportation would be maintained, and with this in view, Mr.
Jones, the bus driver last year, was asked before school closed to advise size of building etc.," Secretary Abbey stated.

After bids for the construction of a building had been received, the contract awarded the firm of Jarrett
and Parker, the lowest bidder, and arrangements made for the purchase
of an acre of ground on the El Vista Port Arthur road from E. J. Pleasant
for $200, a large delegation from El Vista, headed by M. L. Edge, appeared before the board and presented a lengthy petition praying that the board refrain from erecting the school house in the neighborhood that year, but wait until the county road was built, at which time

a school building would be desirable.
It is stated in the letter from Secretary Abbey.

In accordance with the expressed wish of the El Vista residents, the school building plan was dropped at that time, and J. A. Lindstrom employed September 20 to transport the El Vista school children into Port Arthur at a salary of $2,000, the letter further sets forth.

Explains Discontinuance
Then came more efforts to have the county build the El Vista road, the outcome of these efforts being that upon finding a lot of money for constructing the road, the school board made representations in the interest of the El
Vista road, which finally was included in the county's bonding program,
it stated.

When the board employed C. D.
Jones in August of 1922 to drive
the bus from El Vista into Port Arthur, it was because the El Vista
road still was in bad condition with prospects that the finishing of the new road could not be accomplished
for some time, but the board felt
that this would be the last year that free transportation would be maintained, and with this in view, Mr.
Jones, the bus driver last year, was asked before school closed to advise size of building etc.," Secretary Abbey

stated.
After bids for the construction of a building had been received, the contract awarded the firm of Jarrett
and Parker, the lowest bidder, and
arrangements made for the purchase
of an acre of ground on the El Vista
Port Arthur road from E. J. Pleasant
for $200, a large delegation from El Vista, headed by M. L. Edge, appeared before the board and presented a lengthy petition praying that
the board refrain from erecting the school house in the neighborhood that year, but wait until the

the El Vista people that free service would not be furnished this year, according to the letter.

"The board really expected a response from you and in order to be prepared and in a position to make a definite proposition to you, bids were called for and held in abeyance, to be used in working out the matter with your people," Secretary Abbey wrote.

A committee representing school patrons from the north end of the district, covering the Country club, Boulevard and Dryden roads, were given a proposition to put a bus on their route, the children patronizing the same to pay a fare governed as to distance and somewhat cheaper than interurban fare, but the proposition was not accepted, the letter stated.

Ready to Grant Building

"The latest information received from you was contained in your petition of August 1, 1921, to the effect that a school house would be desirable after the county road was finished. The road was finished about January 1 of this year, and the board has been and still is ready to give you a building if you will advise that your wishes are not changed, and will also take steps to cooperate with the board as to location of building etc.," Secretary Abbey

stated.
"Adequate and satisfactory bus service between El Vista and Port Arthur will be maintained as long as a monthly average of 20 or more children patronize the bus, paying 5 cents each way, or 10 cents for the round trip, in case you do not wish the building at this time. The board also proposes to erect two or three waiting rooms or sheds where the children congregate and have protection from the weather. This is deemed fair and just, as children from all other outlying territories are paying either interurban or street car fares," the letter from Secretary Abbey concludes.

Civic Club Making Rapid Progress in Parks Program

Tree Planting To Be Taken Up After Curb Is Constructed—Rummage Sale To Aid Move

"Civic Improvement of Port Arthur" is the slogan of the Civic club, one of the most active branches of the Department club.

The Civic club, an outgrowth of the old park committee of the Department club, has grown from a committee of a few members to a membership of forty-six. So wide was the scope of work of the park committee, and so large was the committee, the sub-committees were necessary, and after several months of working with committees and sub-committees, the park committee finally assumed the name of the Civic club. Officers were elected and the committee soon began to function as a club.

Today the Civic club is beginning to become a vital part of Port Arthur's progress. With the completion of the Civic club park, the first of a series of improvements for the city will be begun by the Civic club.

Park on Lakeshore.

The park is situated on Lake Shore drive, between Richmond avenue and Fourth street. There will be five entrances to the park, and walks will be laid out in such a manner as to give a clear passage through the entire park. Evergreen, ash and all-seeing palms will flank the street edges of the park, and shrubbery will be grouped at intervals over the park. A large pergola will be erected opposite Lake Shore drive, and play ground equipment and inviting music seats and nooks will be placed in the park. Camphors, bamboos, Lombardy poplar, lilacs, junipers, and magnolias and flowering shrubs such as crepe myrtles, hydrangeas, oleanders and verbes will be a few of the shrubs which will be placed in the park.

Monday the curb is to be constructed, and then the planting will begin. CANADA WAVE ON RUM RUNNING

Border Conference Continually Postponed

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—In an effort to halt the flow of Canadian liquor over the international boundary line and to force government action, all the prohibition forces of Canada have amalgamated into one federation. Their initial move will be a deputation to the Canadian capital demanding that the government call an international session with the United States government and prohibition leaders and prepare plans for damming the flow of "wet goods" across the border.

Four times the government has announced that it was ready to meet representatives from the United States on the rum running question. Each time, just as Uncle Sam's men were ready to depart from Washington, a hitch occurred in the plans and word was sent to the United States capital that the conference would have to be delayed.

Last week the meeting was on, and again it was called off, with the government announcing that now no definite date is in sight for the conference.

Prohibition leaders contend that the Canadian government members left to deal with this important international issue have failed in their duty and have asked for an investigation. The "dry" leaders assert that the representatives from the United States have showed a willingness to meet in Ottawa, and that the Canadian department is absolutely to blame for the delay.

While the conference is being continually postponed, the flow of liquor and beer over the border is increasing.

No Skyrocketing "Sales" Here!

We do not give orders to take quality out of goods to enable us to reduce prices, but consider the nimble nickel better than the slower moving dime; believing in holding up qualities and giving full measure even at smaller prices.

We find ourselves better off by reason of the larger volume of our business.

A "Clearance Sale" is unnecessary here because of the fact that goods are constantly moving—coming and going—never remaining in our Store long enough to grow old and undesirable.

Any other kind of "sale" is largely a "make-believe," a storekeeping method tabooed by progressive merchants.

Glaring Lights Under Fire of Big Clubs

MOTOR BODIES WAGING FIGHT

Clubs Plan Campaign to Cut Big Evil

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Through the cooperation of automobile clubs affiliated with the American Automobile association, automobile owners will be in a position to have their headlights focused and adjusted or make the necessary adjustments themselves. Many of the clubs have already established headlight testing stations for the motorists of their communities. Other clubs are now making arrangements to provide this service as their contribution to the campaign being waged to eliminate the glaring headlights on the streets and highways.

In order to cooperate with the affiliating clubs in their efforts to reduce the number of accidents traceable to glaring headlights, the American Automobile association, with the cooperation of the United States bureau of standards, has prepared a chart and explicit directions for testing and adjusting headlights, which can easily be followed. In the case of headlights on the older makes of cars or where parts are rusted the aid of a mechanic might be necessary. The directions are being distributed through clubs affiliated with the A. A. A.

A member of the A. A. A. discovered that pleasure could be combined with service by arranging a neighborhood headlight testing station in his garage and inviting his neighbors to bring their cars to a headlight testing "free," according to a report which came to a national headquarters of the A. A. A. Neighbors helped each other in focusing and adjusting the lights. The plan proved so popular that it resulted in practically all of the automobile owners on "main line roads" of this neighborhood being able to drive out at night with plenty of light and without the danger of their light shining in the eyes of passing motorists.

While many motorists, unfortunately, are passing a car on the road at night for the proper headlight device or adjustment, it is a well known fact that accidents result from too little light as well as from glaring lights, according to the American Automobile association. Tests show that with approved lenses or reflectors properly focused and adjusted it is unnecessary to dim excepting in rare instances.

In addition to the proper focusing and adjusting of headlights, the American Automobile association points out the wisdom of the installation of approved headlight devices or lenses. A list of approved devices has been adopted in 11 states and other states are making similar regulations. The list of devices and lenses has been prepared by the United States bureau of standards in cooperation with the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators. In these 11 states the device listed are the only ones which are legal in these states. Other devices are being added to the list as the tests being made warrant their approval.

Speeders Eat Own Dust On Streets of Detroit

DETROIT, Oct. 13.—River Rouge, whose city limits butt against those of this Michigan metropolis, stands out today as the originator of a "speedy first" system unique in modern methods.

River Rouge is making speeders "eat their own dust," and literally, too. For, this little city, firing of the mad rush of bootleggers, drunk drivers and others, making its streets a speedway, has taken advantage of an ordinance which makes possible sentencing of city prisoners to work.

Municipal Judge John R. Valois and Chief of Police Oliver G. Brown recently decided to "bring in" every speeder. On Judge Valois would devolve the duty of sentencing the guilty ones to work on the city streets. Daily the commissioner of public works may be seen supervising his gang of convicted speeders in either street cleaning, laying of bricks, or any other odd job that may be necessary.

Overall uniforms, with the words "City Prisoner" and a number, are provided. These the speeders are forced to don and then go their way to street work for the period of sentence, be it two days, a week or month.

The experiment has been a great success. Within a dozen days used to be brought into court daily this number has been reduced to two and three, for the spectacle of calloused hands and the humiliating nature of that work has had a most salutary effect.

River Rouge has a speed limit of 15 miles an hour. However, this is not enforced to the letter, the motorcycle officers being instructed to arrest only those who are proceeding at more than 25 miles an hour.

Living between Detroit and Ecorse, the latter place being internationally famous because it has been and still is the principal spot at which booze and beer is run over the Detroit river from Canada, River Rouge has had much trouble with "wild" drivers.

Now, however, things have changed and, to all evidences, the "business" of Chief Brown and Judge Valois will steadily decrease.

AUTO TAXATION PLAN IS URGED

Manufacturers Would Make State Agency

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—More simple and scientific practices in the taxing of motor vehicles was urged by Harry Maxwell, secretary of the motor vehicle conference committee, in speaking at the convention of the Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' association, in session here.

The committee which Mr. Maxwell represents includes delegates from motor car, dealer and manufacturer organizations. This body has been working to determine a set of principles which would clarify the complex problems of highway taxation. The speaker advocated that the cost of highways should be borne by two groups—first, by society-as-a-whole, which benefits from the general economic value of improved highways; and second, by the motor vehicle owners and users who benefit particularly.

Proceeding on this theory, the motor vehicle conference committee has worked out a set of principles for the special taxation of the motor vehicle, which include the following points:

The state should be the sole special taxation agency.

There should be but one form of special taxation of the motor vehicle.

The amount of special taxes on motor vehicles should be derived from the sum required for administration of the state motor vehicle department and the maintenance of improved highways in the state.

No special motor vehicle tax funds should be sent for maintenance of highways unless these are located where the highway needs of the state require it and are built of materials and in a manner to meet these needs.

The taxes should be raised in a manner which most equitably distributes the burden in various classes of vehicle, and the units within each class.

Money, raised by such taxes should be placed in the state motor vehicle highway maintenance fund and be spent by the state or motor state or provision on the improved highways in the order of their importance and in accordance with their maintenance needs.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 13.—Joseph Henry of Hoboken, a stage hand at the Lyric theater, Jersey City, was shot to death in an altercation with a man at a side entrance of the theater.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM IS BIG

New Developments Lead to Co-Operation

There is no economic problem of greater basic importance today than the unifying of all means of transportation into one systematic system. The urgent necessity of moving people and materials with the utmost expediency and economy obviously has a direct bearing upon the progress of the country financially, industrially and commercially, and, therefore, upon the cost of living generally.

Significant present-day developments in transportation are tending unmistakably towards better coordination and cooperation between the four main units: steam roads, electric railways, ships, and motor vehicles.

Out of the confusion and friction of the past, an orderly system is being gradually established, to the elimination of wasteful methods and destructive competition. Tomorrow will see a new era in this field.

The outstanding factor in the linking of railways, highways, and waterways is of course the rapidly expanding use of motor vehicles. Rail and water carriers are of ancient origin; the amazing growth of the motor industry has taken place in little more than a score of years, and only within the last few years have trucks and buses taken their permanent place as essential transportation units.

KILLING FROST CUTS DOWN TOBACCO CROP

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 13.—More than one-fourth of the entire Wisconsin tobacco crop will be unfit to cut as a result of killing frosts this past week, according to the semi-monthly report of the agricultural statistician. The fact that one-half of the crop was already out of the field saved it from damage.

Some frost damage was done to late potatoes in the state, but most of the crop was reported to have been out of the way before the sharp drop in temperature. Tomatoes suffered the greatest frost damage.

The report said that the frost caused but slight damage to corn, although 50 per cent of the crop remains in danger, because of slow maturing. Silo filling is general.

EAST SENDS MORONS JUDGE TELLS WEST

SAN JOSE, Oct. 13.—Eastern communities are sending morons and other dependent people to the Santa Clara valley, said Judge J. H. Welch today in disposing of the juvenile court calendar.

FOUR-WHEEL BRAKE EFFICIENCY IS CITED

Four-wheel brakes are essentially a convenience and a coming necessity as they insure simpler operation of the car, longer life of the tires, brakes and entire car mechanism and greater safety to the occupants and to the public, according to Theo. Parker of the Star garage.

Four wheel brakes alone are efficient, only to the extent of the friction between the two rear tires and the roadway. If four wheel brakes were made as large in diameter as the wheel itself, it would still be impossible to produce any more friction between the two tires and the roadway or do more than back the two rear wheels and braking effort would only equal the friction of those two tires on the roadway. This being a well established fact, there is no known way of increasing the braking effect of one set of brakes, after they are made efficient enough to lock the wheels, Mr. Parker claims.

But four wheel brakes give double the braking effect of a two-wheel brake, because they operate as efficiently on all four wheels as a well designed two wheel brake does on the rear wheels, and the braking effect is equal to the friction of all four tires on the roadway. This insures maximum efficiency of brake action and twice as much stopping power as can be obtained by the use of the most effective two-wheel brakes.

Comments on 4 Wheel Brakes

With permission, we quote from a recent circular of the Rolls-Royce Company to their dealers, upon which we cannot improve:

"Basically, the fault with front-wheel brakes lies in the danger of front-wheel skids, which are uncontrollable and consequently vastly more dangerous than a rear-wheel skid.

"It must be appreciated, first of all, that for their ability to steer the car the front wheels depend on their rolling motion. When front wheels cease to roll they lose all power to steer the car, which slides straight ahead on a flat road, or into the ditch if on a crowned or cambered road.

"When the brakes are used in an emergency it is of primary importance that the direction of the car should be under control; that is, that the car can be steered from the time that the brakes are applied until it is brought to a complete stop.

"When an obstacle suddenly presents itself (as in night driving) the driver's instinct is to immediately apply the brakes as hard as possible.

"If, under these conditions, the front wheels are suddenly locked, disaster may overtake the driver, through inability to control the car's direction, even though it may stop before meeting the obstacle.

"In traffic driving the ability to dodge—to control the direction of the car—is of almost equal importance with the ability to stop.

"On a wet or sprinkled city street, granting that the front-wheel brakes were perfectly equalized, the car would slide straight ahead unable to take advantage of traffic conditions, either right or left.

"If the brakes were not perfectly equalized, immediately the pressure was applied, the front wheels would take on a skid, which would be uncontrollable, in whichever direction the equalization of the brakes was faulty.

"In traffic driving, under most favorable conditions (perfectly equalized brakes and dry pavement) a sudden application of the brakes checks the car so precipitately that cars following have been known to crash into the car ahead, causing a rear end wreck through not having stopping room and time.

"It is, of course, obvious that front-wheel brakes present double the difficulty of keeping the brakes properly equalized.

Aside from the above apparent defects in front or four-wheel braking, there is the slithering effect on the steering to take into consideration when the brakes are applied, and the drag on the steering unless the braking effects on both wheels is absolutely equalized. This, of itself, constitutes a serious disadvantage reflected in the handling of the car."

In Mystery Death

Photo shows Charles Webb, husband of Mrs. Webb who died at the fashionable Westchester-Biltmore club of New York under circumstances regarded by her physician as so suspicious that he refused to issue a death certificate. The dead woman was the daughter of S. Jennings Gorman. She was wealthy in her own right and a leader of the ultra social set.

Paris Beggars Make A Study of English

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Beggars in Paris are not doing so badly. An American was accosted the other day in the Place Vendôme, it's right in the center of the city, two or three steps from half a dozen hotels, and the same number of beggars of American binks—by a person in rags who bowed and said:

"A little charity, my dear sir, if you please. I have four children and have nothing to eat."

This is not a translation of what he said. They are the exact words, though the accent was unmistakable to him. In the tourist season the center of Paris becomes American, or at least Anglo-Saxon. The signs on the stores are in English. The announcement of English "Spoken" is not a vain word. So this unfortunate received part of the proceeds of last year's season to giving for a course in English as she is spoken at a well-known language school.

The world needs an automatic photograph stop that will not stop in the middle of a record.

Men time and worry would be saved around the home by having night ash designs on rug.

In the closing days of September the petroleum production of the Southern California oil fields was 642,000 barrels per day compared to 639,000 barrels in the week ending September 23. According to a large independent operator California production cannot be maintained at this rate and his prediction is that by the end of the year it will have fallen off 250,000 to 300,000 barrels.

It is said that the Pacific coast markets for crude and gasoline are growing at such a pace as to warrant the belief that these markets alone will be able to absorb 500,000 barrels per day of California crude before the end of next year, thus helping to restore the market for mid-continent product. Mexico is said to be a large buyer and the ships of the Pacific, which are oil and not coal burners, are large consumers of the California product.

It is conceded however, that this is all guess work and that the enormous production of the California fields revolutionized the markets of the world, the prices of the world and produced chaotic conditions everywhere. This cannot go on forever. Flush production in the California fields cannot continue forever. Demand for crude is growing all the time and the veterans in the oil world are confident that as the reserves melt away the industry will become stabilized and that real prosperity will come both to the independents and the regulars in the summer of 1924.

Gasoline reserves are melting away and ten cent gasoline is largely responsible for the melting. September production of motor cars and trucks was 328,738 compared with 345,608 in August and 203,963 in September of 1922. September production was five per cent under August but 61 per cent in excess of September last year when production declined twenty-five per cent from the previous month.

Production in the first nine months of 1923 was 3,021,896 cars and trucks compared with 1,884,289 in the same period last year. According to a leading trade journal the output in November is expected to be somewhat less than in October with a decline of equal proportions in December. Those who are on the inside say that the output of autos and trucks this year will touch the four million mark and four million motor cars and trucks consume daily vast quantities of gasoline and oil.

It is admitted by the titans of the game that the petroleum industry is yet in its infancy and it must be admitted that the auto industry is in the same stage of existence.

GREATEST LIVING ENGLISHMAN.

David Lloyd George is the idol of the English speaking world. He is as popular in the United States as he is in Wales and more popular in Canada than in England or in Scotland. As an orator he ranks easily among the first of the world. As a writer men and women of all nations devour his written word. As a leader of the progressive men and women of all countries he holds first place.

He isn't on the retired list. He is as virile and as magnetic today as when he was war minister of the world's greatest empire and later one of the four supermen who whipped into shape the peace treaty. He saved the day and the face of his government and his empire and then the torries of England, who call themselves liberal unionists, dragged him from high place, drove him from power and fancied they had broken him forever.

He laughed at his enemies, he smiled at his newspaper critics, he found himself a place in the ranks and in the House of Commons he became more powerful than the leaders of the government who had tossed him aside like a broken thing saying that his work had been accomplished and his career of activity over. Now he is hiding his time. Another revolution of the wheel and the laborites and the liberals may be in control of the British government and Lloyd George may again become the prime minister of an empire. He has the ear of the world. He is a staff contributor to some of the foremost papers of Europe and America. He is speaking of the future and not the past. He looks to a rising and not a setting sun.

He receives thirty shillings a word, about $6.92 according to the Yorkshire Evening News, for a new series of articles he is to write. His contract calls for a fee of $6,825 for every thousand words. He writes fifty-two articles a year for the newspapers of an American publisher. He is writing another series of articles for the newspapers of a noted London publisher. He furnished magazine articles for important publications on the continent of Europe.

He is for the peace of the world and the prevention of future wars by a League of Nations or a World Court that will tame the bullies of the future and crush ambitious Caesars who would make the sword of might the scepter of authority and power.

David Lloyd George has not lost heart. He believes that out of the world war if the thinkers of the world are brave and true to ideals, will come a civilization which will usher in the gospel of universal justice. This is the gospel that he is preaching in America. This is the gospel that he will preach on his return to the British Isles. This is the gospel that he will continue to preach until death shall quiet his tongue and still his pen.

Truth is stronger than fiction. He was an orphan boy in Wales. His uncle was a Welsh shepherd or shearer. He was a commoner and the cobbler was a commoner. Out of his small earnings the cobbler paid for the education of the orphan boy who in time became the foremost leader of the commoners of England and the war minister of that empire upon whose dominions the sun never sets.

Roger Williams was a Welshman. He came to America to worship God according to his convictions. He was the first on these shores to declare for religious liberty for all mankind, not religious liberty for all Christians but for all men and women regardless of nationality or color.

Thomas Jefferson was of Welsh origin. He became the founder of the democratic party; after he had written the Constitution of the United States and after he had forced through a Virginia legislature the statute which provided for civil and religious liberty in the commonwealth of Virginia.

David Lloyd George finds himself very much at home in the United States. There should be a reason for it. Roger Williams and Thomas Jefferson paved the way for the political gospel in this country which David Lloyd George introduced long years ago under the skies of the British Isle and led in time to the coming of the democratic party of England, now on the verge of control of the British government.

EDITH OWNS THE NAME.

A French court refused to grant a temporary injunction asked by Frank J. Gould, restraining Edith Kelly Gould, his former wife, from using the Gould name on theatrical posters and programs. Ever since the court acted Edith Kelly Gould has been playing to standing room capacity every night. The name is still blazoned on posters three feet high on the Parisian boulevard.

What's in a name? Frank J. of the house of Gould gave it to Edith Kelly when he presented her with a marriage license. She ditched it later when she found him impossible alimony money and then returned to the stage where she set Paris afire with her blazing posters and made the Mrs. Gould who succeeded her wild with jealousy and as mad as a March hare.

Millions of American money played the devil in Europe and America with the children of Old Jay Gould. He was the wizard of the rail. He created and mastered and operated a system of American railways that won the admiration of all the empire builders of the world. He amassed a fortune of three hundred million. He passed on with instructions to his sons to keep the property intact and to hand the Gould name down to posterity for a thousand years to come.

Where are the Gould roads? Where is the Gould system? Where are the Gould millions? Where are the sons and daughters of the famous wizard of yesteryear?

TIM HAS THE MONEY.

All the Argentine sporting men placed their money on Firpo. They were confident that he would put Dempsey to sleep. Now the London sporting men are offering nine to five against the American champion which will run against Papyrus in the international. This did not chill the betting heart of Tim Mara of New York, one of the keenest betting men America has known. Tim chased himself into a betting parlor and wagered $13,000 against $5,000 that the American horse will win. Racing is said to be the sport of kings. If Papyrus should win from the American, Tim will damn the sport of kings as his ancestors damned kings and all their retainers and followers.

All the prime ministers from the British dominions are in conference in London and these overseas premiers are said to favor the British government accommodating itself to the views of the United States for the extension of the three mile limit wherever no conflict with existing laws and regulations governing traffic on the seas is involved. There may be a twelve mile limit some day. This will make life interesting for the international booze runners.

Pennsylvania republicans hold their presidential primaries in May. There will be a Pinchot ticket in the field and a republican boss ticket. Unless the surface signs are misleading all the republican bosses the country over are going to place the Coolidge brand on the delegates. What are the democratic bosses going to do?

William Cabell Bruce, democratic United States Senator from Ohio says that after raising and harvesting his crop, paying the freight and paying his taxes, the farmer finds he has spent his entire year for the government. There are millions who are not farmers who are doing the same. Isn't the government the people. They make and unmake administrations. They are responsible for wars and war costs. They danced and they must pay the piper. There is no other way out.

A LOST DAY.

This happened in New York, foremost city of the new world. A physician notified the husband that his wife was at the point of death and insisted that the husband should visit the room. This was the attitude of the husband and his words of refusal to visit the sick room: "We have been together for ten years. One day lost does not matter." Now the lawyers and the authorities are doing their best to convince the widower that a day lost does matter.

LLOYD GEORGE IS RICHES OF MIDAS 'GRANDEST DAD' AWAITS WOMAN

But Daughter Doesn't Believe He's Great

By ALEXANDER HERMAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—David Lloyd George, a champion of Great Britain, and one of the Big Four who held the destiny of the world in their hands during the war, isn't so much "Leasewee," that's what his daughter and "sidekick" (British interpretation, "pal"), Miss Megan Lloyd George, tells him.

"And I guess he believes it, too," she says smilingly. "I make him believe it."

Together with her mother, Dame Margaret is accompanying her famous father on his first trip through America.

"If this excitement keeps up," she said in her first American interview, "I may not get the chance to see him as much as I do at home. But when I do, I'll keep right on telling him—"

"I think he's so great as a statesman."

He's Same Dad

But as a father?

"That's another matter," she said. "He is simply the grandest dad any girl ever had."

"From early morning when I hear him splashing around in his bath, till late at night when I go to bed, we just keep joking each other."

"Pulling me up is what he likes to call it. And I have to pull him to beat his wit."

"When I get to him too often, he simply sits me on his knee, just as he used to do when I was a baby, and gives me a talking to. But I am afraid that his five grandchildren are beginning to depose me from favor. Sometimes I think that he is an even better grandfather than father."

Perhaps she'll be a grandmother some day, and then her children will make up for the lost favor.

"I've never," snapped back Megan. "That's one thing I am determined about. I shan't get married."

But it's going to be hard to keep her many admirers from falling in love with her. For Miss Megan is a very pretty girl—blond, with hair not bobbed, a twinkling eye and a nose just turned up the least bit. She seems to use no powder or lipstick.

She says she doesn't smoke. But doesn't mind if others do.

"I'm here on a holiday," she says. "I want to see this great country. And I want to meet its people. I especially want to find out what American girls are like in their own land."

And I guess daddy does, too.

Interested in Politics

Miss Megan is through with school, which she attended both in England and France.

"I'm interested in politics, of course," she says. "Two men brought me up in it. But I don't know if I'll ever take it up as a career."

Sometimes when she gets real chummy with her father, she cracks her jokes in Welsh. The Lloyd George family likes things Welsh. "Even Welsh rabbit," Megan went on, with that ever-present twinkle in her eye. "Through its Welsh origin has long been lost in obscurity."

As soon as she landed, she and her mother went around looking for a Welsh maid.

"No," saying for us, if we can help it, put in Megan Lloyd George. "We are here to see the country."

But they aren't going to see very much of each other, for Lloyd George will be kept busy attending banquets and lectures; and Miss Megan and Dame Margaret will be busy at luncheons and receptions.

"I hope that father's diet won't be too much disturbed," Megan added thoughtfully. "He is rather regular in his eating."

"Fruit and fish mostly," added the daughter. "With some bacon and eggs for breakfast, and some soup for dinner. Lunches are very light, one course of something and some coffee."

"But I guess dad is old enough to take care of himself, when we aren't around."

United States mint employees are asking for more money even though they are making millions.

Twice Refused. Claimant for Twenty Millions Found

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 13.—A fortune of $20,000,000, twice refused by members of the Key family at last has found a claimant in Atlanta.

Mrs. W. G. Mahone, 52, has virtually established her right as the sole heir to the tremendous Key estate in the heart of New York City.

Mrs. Mahone's daughter, Mrs. L. C. Brinkley, has just returned from New York where she interviewed lawyers in the case, among them ex-President Taft. Mrs. Brinkley says that business interests now controlling the property are seeking a compromise with Mrs. Mahone.

Mrs. Mahone is a daughter of Cash Key, formerly presiding elder of the Augusta, Ga. district of the Methodist church, and grand daughter of John Key, whose father received a land grant from the king of England.

At the death of the original Key, the land was left to two sons, John and William. Records show that they never divided it, but allowed it to be the basis of the estate jointly.

Had Enough to Live On

John Key had a son, Cash, who inherited the Georgia land and became a Methodist minister. After John and William died, Cash, who was the only one to live, to the administration of the estate.

John Key, who was happy in his work, had enough to live on and did not want the New York estate.

When the 20,000,000 estate was inherited by Cash Key, New York, he was a minister and a factory owner. He was a Methodist minister and a factory owner. He was a Methodist minister and a factory owner.

SARAZEN IS ONLY KING TO REPEAT

Gene Sarazen is the only American golfer to win a national championship this year in a national tournament.

Sarazen won the professional match play championship at Pittsburg last year and repeated with this year at New York.

Sarazen, however, was unable to repeat in the national open, losing that honor to Johnnie Walker, American champion.

Gene Sarazen made a gallant but unsuccessful bid to repeat as the amateur champion this year when Glenna Collett Conford, Providence, R.I., was unable to survive the third round of defending her title as women's champion.

Where Are Cromwell's Bones? Many Localities Claim Site

LONDON, Oct. 13.—"Where are the bones of Oliver Cromwell?" "Here," says one, pointing to the site of the historic Tyburn gallows, where street repair men have just dug up an assorted collection of human bones.

"Here," says a resident of Holborn, pointing to a small paddock where the obelisk in Red Lion Square once stood and having reference to Sir John Prestwick's "Republican" to prove his point.

At Nasby Field," says a Staffordshire correspondent, quoting from the Rev. John Mastron's "History of Nasby," published in 1792.

"You're all wrong," replies a happy resident of Hemel Hempstead, pointing triumphantly to a government report on historical manuscripts, issued in 1908, in which it is contended that Cromwell's bones rest in a sarcophagus at Newburgh Priory, Yorkshire.

And the battle is on. Every day a new authority is produced to show that the famous Protector, whose followers forcibly removed the head of Charles I in the middle of the street before Whitehall and did many other things of tragic interest in their day, is safely entombed in a new, more distant spot.

When Cromwell was still exiled in the minds of his fellow countrymen, nobody cared much where he was buried, or whether he was buried at all, as a matter of fact.

The passage of many years, however, has seemed to wipe out many unseemly associations, and competition has been for the honor of claiming his final place.

In a manuscript diary kept by a merchant named Edward Southill, who was living in London when Cromwell's body was dragged from its tomb in Westminster Abbey, there is the following note:

"The 20th of January, being the day twelve years after the death of the king, the odious carcases of Oliver Cromwell, Major General Ireton and Bradshaw were drawn in sledges to Tyburn, where they were hanged by the neck from morning till 1 in the afternoon."

Will New Mile Time Get Oke

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Cables bring the news that Percy Nunn, a Finnish runner, has done the mile in 4:10.25 and the 1500 meters in 17:33. These marks were hung at a recent field meet at Stockholm, Sweden.

Nunn's time for the mile, if it is to be accepted by European and American athletic authorities, is new world's record.

The record was previously held by Norman Toller, who ran the distance in 4:12.35. This was back in 1916.

GIRL DIPLOMAT HELPS SOVIET

Mme. Kellanty Takes Business from U. S.

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—Mme. Kellanty, Soviet minister to Norway, is now in Berlin to consult with members of the Russian embassy here concerning trade conditions in the Baltic countries. Mme. Kellanty said:

"I have found that the development of trade relations between Russia and Norway is extremely fascinating work. I am much gratified at the exportation of Russian grain to Norway. In exchange for this grain Norway is shipping paper to Russia, especially print paper, of which we have great need since the newspapers are reviving rapidly. Russia always imported considerable paper, and although we have restored the paper mills and our paper industry is in a better condition perhaps than any other, we cannot meet the demand."

"We are also selling Norway some wheat, but our chief export to that country is rice, and we are getting considerable business which the United States formerly had."

BEGGAR'S WOODEN LEG IS FILLED WITH 'KALE'

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Paul Delucos has a wooden leg and for years has been a familiar figure outside Notre Dame Cathedral, where he solicits alms from tourists.

Begging is an offense in Paris, and police several times arrested Delucos but had to release him because they could find no proof of his delinquency. When searched Delucos was always broke. "How can I be a beggar?" he asked, "when I never have any money?"

Finally a policeman had a brainstorm and looked in the beggar's wooden leg. It was comfortably filled with banknotes and coins.

2 FLEE POLICE! DRIVE IN CIRCLE

Motor AM Night, Get Back to Starting Point

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 12.—Possessing a car in the darkness when they were striving to escape the officers of Roberts county, in the extreme northeastern part of South Dakota, Homer Taylor and Byron Adams, said to be the sons of wealthy parents at Wichita, Kansas, drove all night in their car around a lake and when morning came they were little less than ten miles from the point where they started their flight.

They traveled about 200 miles around Dry Wood Lake, a comparatively small body of water, and had this been in a straight direction, as they intended, they would, of course, have been about 200 miles away the next morning and probably never would have been captured. They now are in the Roberts county jail awaiting trial on the charges of attacking two Sioux Falls girls, whom they induced to go automobile riding with them.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Women screamed and rushed to cover when a tall man walked calmly down Lenox street, South End, attired in nothing but fresh air.

BEGGAR'S WOODEN LEG IS FILLED WITH 'KALE'

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Paul Delucos has a wooden leg and for years has been a familiar figure outside Notre Dame Cathedral, where he solicits alms from tourists.

Begging is an offense in Paris, and police several times arrested Delucos but had to release him because they could find no proof of his delinquency. When searched Delucos was always broke. "How can I be a beggar?" he asked, "when I never have any money?"

Finally a policeman had a brainstorm and looked in the beggar's wooden leg. It was comfortably filled with banknotes and coins.

Studebaker Comments on Four Wheel Brakes

There is little difference mechanically between two-wheel brake and four-wheel brake mechanisms.

Front-wheel brakes are merely added capacity, of conventional design. All four brakes are operated by the foot pedal.

The emergency brakes on rear wheels or transmission, operated by the hand lever, are retained in all four-wheel brake systems.

Controversy already exists between four-wheel brake advocates as to the relative merit of external or internal types of brake pressure on front wheels.

The duplication of parts, added weight, and increased friction of four-wheel brakes are common knowledge.

If four-wheel brakes were necessary, safe, and simple in operation, their existence would be justified, even with these impedimenta.

The factory makes proper adjustment of clearances between brake linings and drums.

After the factory ships the car, its responsibility ceases for brake adjustments, and the responsibility is shifted to the owner.

Electric starters, battery ignition, and vacuum tanks are acknowledged developments in the evolution of the automobile. They are built complete, encased in housings by the factory, are practically automatic and require few adjustments. Four-wheel brakes are in an entirely different category.

Numerous dealers and factory branch salesmen selling four-wheel brake cars, are already advising buyers that the front brakes may be disconnected, if they are not wanted. This would mean, of course, that the extra weight and impedimenta would be carried around uselessly.

Other front-wheel brakes are adjusted for such weak pressure that they cannot lock the front wheels, and the brakes are thus merely camouflage.

Four-wheel brakes will cause more trouble and accidents in a month than they will prevent in a year.

In fact, the Rolls-Royce Company states that "they show such decidedly dangerous disadvantages that they are considered unsafe to put in the hands of the general public, and are not nearly the equal of the powerful, efficient lasting, and easily equalized brake design now employed in our design."

Four-wheel brakes have been a bone of contention in England since 1910, and yet today only 5 or 6 of the 150 odd English makes of cars use them at all. Several manufacturers use them as optional equipment, or furnish them on one of their models only.

Adherents of four-wheel brakes claim that they (1) permit quicker stopping and (2) prevent skidding. These are the only claims made for four-wheel brakes. With front-wheel brakes fully applied, quicker stopping is possible. This is not denied.

That quick stopping which locks the front wheels is an advantage, is vigorously denied. Such stopping is positively dangerous, because steering control is immediately lost.

The claim that four-wheel brakes prevent skidding and sliding is denied. No matter what kind of brakes are used, skidding will occur if wheels are locked before the momentum of the car is offset by the resistance of the road or pavement, whether dry or wet.

Skidding on wet pavements can be reduced to the minimum, with either two- or four-wheel brakes, only by slowing down speed and gentle brake pressure with clutch engaged.

Disadvantages of Four-Wheel Brakes

Again the only advantage (?) of four-wheel brakes, namely, quicker stopping, there are six serious disadvantages which make them mechanically impracticable, dangerous, uncomfortable, and expensive to owners, as follows:

1. Danger of Accidents. With permission, we quote from a recent circular of the Rolls-Royce Company to their dealers, upon which we cannot improve:

"Basically, the fault with front-wheel brakes lies in the danger of front-wheel skids, which are uncontrollable and consequently vastly more dangerous than a rear-wheel skid.

"It must be appreciated, first of all, that for their ability to steer the car the front wheels depend on their rolling motion. When front wheels cease to roll they lose all power to steer the car, which slides straight ahead on a flat road, or into the ditch if on a crowned or cambered road.

"When the brakes are used in an emergency it is of primary importance that the direction of the car should be under control; that is, that the car can be steered from the time that the brakes are applied until it is brought to a complete stop.

"When an obstacle suddenly presents itself (as in night driving) the driver's instinct is to immediately apply the brakes as hard as possible.

"If, under these conditions, the front wheels are suddenly locked, disaster may overtake the driver, through inability to control the car's direction, even though it may stop before meeting the obstacle.

"In traffic driving the ability to dodge—to control the direction of the car—is of almost equal importance with the ability to stop.

"On a wet or sprinkled city street, granting that the front-wheel brakes were perfectly equalized, the car would slide straight ahead unable to take advantage of traffic conditions, either right or left.

"If the brakes were not perfectly equalized, immediately the pressure was applied, the front wheels would take on a skid which would be uncontrollable, in whichever direction the equalization of the brakes was faulty.

"In traffic driving, under most favorable conditions (perfectly equalized brakes and dry pavement) a sudden application of the brakes checks the car so precipitately that cars following have been known to crash into the car ahead, causing a rear end wreck through not having stopping room and time.

"It is, of course, obvious that front-wheel brakes present double the difficulty of keeping the brakes properly equalized.

Aside from the above apparent defects in front or four-wheel braking, there is the stiffening effect on the steering to take into consideration when the brakes are applied, and the drag on the steering unless the braking effects on both wheels is absolutely equalized. This, of itself, constitutes a serious disadvantage reflected in the handling of the car."

2. Adjustments by Owner. Brakes must be properly adjusted, lubricated, and kept free from dirt, gravel, and foreign substances, to prevent unequal pressure of brakes and possible locking of front wheels. The burden of this responsibility rests on the owner, not on the factory.

3. Added Impediments and Lubrication. Four-wheel brakes double the number of parts in the braking mechanism, add about one hundred pounds of unsprung weight to the front end of the car, and create from twenty to thirty additional places (mostly inaccessible) requiring lubrication which must be applied by hand.

4. Decreased Car Efficiency. The added weight, extra parts, and increased friction resulting from four-wheel brakes decrease to some degree the efficiency of the car. Poorer acceleration, reduced hill-climbing ability, and increased gasoline consumption result.

5. Harder Steering and Control. The increase in unsprung weight, added parts, and friction necessarily increase the strength required to steer the car and to operate the brakes.

6. Expense of Maintenance. Extra service work in repairing, adjusting, and relining brakes puts the car in the shop oftener and increases the expense of maintenance.

Patent Situation

Four-wheel brakes have been in existence for about twenty years, during which time thousands of patents have been taken out in Europe and the United States, many of which have expired, and it is very doubtful if there are any basic patents preventing the use of four-wheel brakes.

European Experience

European manufacturers have experimented with four-wheel brakes for two decades. English manufacturers generally refuse to use them, although there are a few exceptions.

French manufacturers use them more generally, but many cars are equipped with "servo mechanisms," which are an added attachment intended to prevent locking of front wheels, insure equalization, ease the pedal pressure, etc., but this device introduces further complications of weight, lubrication and expense.

Trade Authorities

AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRIES—July 12, 1923.

"In some cases the layout is such that the act of steering tends to release the front-wheel brake, rendering it less effective when the wheels are cramped. If, with this arrangement, steering is made harder, or the brakes less effective on a curve, or when the vehicle must make a sudden turn—as it must often do in an emergency—there is grave reason to doubt whether the braking is any safer with four-wheel than with two-wheel brakes."

MOTOR WORLD—June 6, 1923.

"If necessary precautions are not taken, skidding is liable to be more frequent and more serious than with rear brakes only."

Studebaker's Position

Studebaker research and engineering departments have been studying, experimenting with, and testing four-wheel brake mechanisms for two years.

These tests merely convince us that four-wheel brakes are unnecessary, mechanically impracticable, and dangerous in the hands of unskilled drivers.

The 1924 model Studebaker cars are equipped with brakes on the rear wheels only. The foot pedal operates the external contracting brakes and easily locks both wheels.

The hand lever operates the internal expanding brakes, and likewise locks the wheels easily.

The foot brakes are used in driving, and the hand brakes to hold the car still when parked on grades, also in emergencies, if necessary.

Studebaker brakes are safe, simple, and practicable. There are no more reliable brakes in use on any automobiles.

TAKE TESTIMONY IN STOKES TRIAL

Mrs. Stokes Never Visited at Bunceton—Witnessed

BOONEVILLE, Mo., Oct. 13.—Armed with depositions of 11 witnesses taken in a little office building here today Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes will return to New York Sunday prepared, she claims, to prove false the charges of her millionaire husband, W. E. D. Stokes, that she visited Edgar Wallace in his hometown of Bunceton, Mo., nearly 20 years ago.

Wallace, now a San Francisco engineer, was named as correspondent by the aged New York millionaire in his suit for divorce.

A dozen witnesses, including members of the Wallace family from Bunceton and local characters, testified today that Mrs. Stokes had never been seen in the little Missouri town.

This testimony will be used in the trial to refute the claim of Stokes that his wife was entertained by Wallace at his old home in Bunceton.

Nelson Leonard, aged character of Bunceton who drove a "Tallboy" back in 1904 when Mrs. Stokes was said to have been a guest of Wallace, testified she had never been one of his passengers.

Prosecuting witnesses in New York had said Mrs. Stokes rode on Leonard's "Tallboy" on several occasions when she was alleged to have visited Wallace.

Other witnesses who lived in Bunceton in 1904 failed to recognize Mrs. Stokes as a visitor of the town when she stood up for their deposition in the little office.

"I never saw her before," Hayden Moore, a grocer of Bunceton for 30 years, testified.

Frank Force of Bunceton furnished the only testimony of a sensational nature when he related an alleged conversation with G. H. Meeker, another local character, who, it was charged, received a telegram and $200 from agents of Stokes.

The message, it was said, instructed him to go to New York with witnesses to testify against Mrs. Stokes. Later, Force said, Meeker left town with two negroes.

Mrs. Stokes and her party of counsel and friends spent a few hours in Bunceton at the Wallace home.

"It was my first visit to the town," Mrs. Stokes said. "I simply had to see Henderson, after I had heard of it and the awful things they have accused me of."

THIRD BASE WEAK
SPOT HURT BUSH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—One weak spot on an infield plays havoc with a team's chances. For two years the Washington club has been badly handicapped by a weakness at third base.

"If I had a reliable man at third base throughout the season I would have finished in fourth place," remarked Manager Donie Bush of the Washington club. "We lost a dozen games because of poor work around third. That many games on the right side of the ledger would have given us a pretty good ending for the year."

Had Blume been able to play the position all season the club would have been well fortified. However, Blume was out of the game nearly half the year because of injuries and illness. During his absence from the game, the club suffered badly.

"I regarded Blume as one of the most promising young infielders in the game. He is rather hefty, but with him in the game regularly, I regard the Washington infield as second to none in the American League. In Peckinbaugh and Harris I have the best double play combination in the American League."

"I am more than satisfied with the showing my club made. A little more pitching strength and a bit more of a punch at the bat and the Nationals will prove mighty trouble some next year."

MEETING RAPS GRAIN PROJECT

Endorsement of Co-Operative Marketing Refused

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 13.—The Coolidge Agricultural Relief Commission today ran against a stone wall. Opposition to the national co-operative marketing association, developed at a conference with farmers and bankers here.

The conference, called to endorse the movement, all day discussion waged over the co-operative marketing proposal and all day the convention held out solidly against it. Instead of endorsing the Coolidge commission plan, the delegates demanded increased tariffs on flour and wheat to the maximum and insisted that congress should be called in special session at once to establish the United States Grain Corporation or a similar agency to handle the wheat surplus.

Eugene Meyers, head of the War Finance Corporation and Frank Merrill came here elated over the success of their plan in South Dakota where more than 100,000 bushels of business men and farmers met on 24 hours notice and appointed a committee of five to get behind the committee named in Chicago, with former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois at its head.

Quinn to Offer "Curative" Bill For City Court if Solons Meet

Would Remove Alleged Disabilities, If Any, Jefferson County Solon Declares in Statement

Regardless of the outcome of the test case filed in the court of criminal appeals to test the validity of the corporation court at Port Arthur, a bill to make that court conform with the Texas law in every respect will be offered in the legislature, should a special session be called.

Representative B. E. Quinn of this district stated that he would introduce the bill in the lower house which would give Port Arthur a court on a par with the district tribunals of the state, as is the Texas law.

As the result of the court of civil appeals holding the new Texas law court at law unconstitutional, Representative B. E. Quinn announced that if a special session of the legislature is called he will introduce a bill creating a similar court for Port Arthur.

"This new court," he said, "will have practically all the powers of a district court. The constitution requires district courts to be located in the county seat and for that reason, some minor eliminations had to be made in the Texas law to make it constitutional."

The present court at law in Port Arthur has jurisdiction only in criminal matters and is supported by the city of Port Arthur. The new court will give the people all the advantages of a district court in prosecutions as well as settling their civil disputes.

"I have always believed that Port Arthur should have a district court. It has about one-third of the population of the county and about one-third of the taxable values. It costs litigants and the state a great deal of money to attend court in Beaumont. They not only have 20 miles to travel, but cases are frequently postponed, requiring them to leave their business very often on one case. If they had a court in the city, it would require only a few minutes to find out when a case is postponed, and it would also be less trouble and expense to attend as witnesses.

Governor Would Name Judge

"The judge of the court shall be appointed by the governor and there after elected by the voters the same as any other district judges.

"The Texas law judge receives a salary of $3000, to be paid by the state, as are the salaries of district judges.

"I feel certain that if the governor will support the matter there will not be the least trouble in getting the bill through. The fact that the Texas law has been held constitutional will help a great deal for it will eliminate all objections on constitutional grounds.

"In fact there is much more reason for a court of that kind in Port Arthur than in Texas. The
